

PD on Art History from a Free Google Site

History through Art-How to keep memories alive?

Content

1. Informative information about history and cultural history from an artistic perspective, Teachers can learn to explore the Google cultural site and move from different time periods and geographical time periods.
2. Teachers can practice working with PD team about managing the site and looking through collections in different museums.
3. Teachers can explore how to print and copy images for in class or project related research.
4. Teachers can explore history events given by the Google cultural group that are significant to them.
5. Teachers can explore paintings and cultural artifacts from random times and countries and practice their optic work zooming in and out and feeling confident about using the images for class lessons.

Learning Outcomes

1. Teachers will come away with a sense of cultural artifacts and art works to have students think about. Teachers can think about historical events, mediums of art, and time periods.
2. Teachers will be able to master reproductions of images for class use.
3. Teachers can use the site for practical historical lessons in class or for students at home.
4. Teachers can use the site along with other sites to think about art forms and history and the significance of art.